This view will be used only by administrators. It will allow admins to view the stats of all currently running games. If a game is tapped the mod view for that game will be opened. To get to this view you log in with an admin account. Clicking the "Back" button (1) will bring you back to the login screen. (4) is the title of the page. The gear icon (2) will bring you to the universal settings page. An example table entry (3) shows the number of player and how many people are dead/alive.

The mod view will be used both by admins and mods. The "Back" button (1) will bring you back to the previous screen. The "Gear" (2) will open the universal settings. The "Players" tab (2) will list all the players of the current game. The "Kills" tab (3) will list all the kills of the current game. An example of a kill table entry can be seen in (4). It will allow the user to see the kill shot, the profile of the player, or a map of the kill location. (5) is the info pop up that displays the things from (4) and from the table entries on the "Players" list.
